

Experimental Results

Researchers at Algae-2-Fuel performed a new experiment, using a better design. In this investigation, the researchers used

- 3 different light treatments (low, or typical; medium; and high) and
- 10 samples per light treatment.

They kept every other variable the same as best they could. The graph below summarizes their results. Each point is the average among the 10 samples for each treatment.

